TelSoc News and Events

5th November 2014

You have probably already seen on the TelSoc website that we have an exciting Charles Todd Oration on November 5th.

The main event is in Sydney at Doltone House, but there are simultaneous events in Melbourne, Adelaide and Brisbane with a live-feed of the proceedings.

The NBN was meant to be the game-changer for competition in telecommunications, with a compulsory split of Telstra and a new industry structure. The shape of the Coalition's NBN is becoming clearer, but what will this mean to competition?

[3] We are pleased that Graeme Samuel AC has agreed to speak on: ?The Future of Competition in the Telecommunications Industry?

This is a joint event under TelSoc and the ACS, and TelSoc and ACS members are entitled to a special price for what promises to be an enjoyable and illuminating luncheon.

Please join us in either Sydney or in the other three states. See our websites for details:

I look forward to seeing you on the day.

Best regards,

Tim Herring
